

Celebrate 2016: The Year of Zoysia at the Golf Industry Show in San Diego

February 10, 2016, San Diego: At the Golf Industry Show in San Diego (#GIS16), Team Zoysia celebrates 2016 as the Year of Zoysia at Booth #3657. This year, the world's most high profile golf projects chose zoysiagrass as their playing surface. These include: The golf course at the 2016 Rio Olympic Games; Tiger Woods' first US course, Bluejack National; Trinity Forest, new home of the AT&T Byron Nelson; and The Golf Club of Texas, the world's 1st 100% zoysia course.

Meet the grass experts of Team Zoysia who helped bring these projects to fruition. David Doguet, who bred & developed the Zeon, L1F, and JaMur Zoysia varieties used on these courses; Dr. Milt Engelke, one of the world's most renowned zoysiagrass researchers; Ken Mangum, CGCS, one of the country's most respected zoysiagrass superintendents, and others.

Zoysia has many environmental, sustainable attributes including very low nitrogen requirements, less water and less mowing. Plus, its upright nature makes the ball sit up as if on a tee.

For these and many more reasons, 2016 is the Year of Zoysia.

About Team Zoysia

Team Zoysia™ was established as an affiliation of producers, scientists, golf course superintendents, equipment manufacturers and distributors that are committed to the customer who chooses to have and use superior zoysiagrass on their facility. Team Zoysia™ is about developing relationships within the turf industry to fully support the utilization and management of zoysiagrass as a sustainable turf. Zoysiagrasses are being rightfully recognized for their superior adaptability to a wide variety of uses such as golf courses, sports fields and lawns, while requiring minimal cultural inputs. The newest and most advanced zoysiagrass varieties may now be used for not only beautiful, managed open spaces and sports facilities, but also for challenging sites that require bioremediation, or as turf that can survive in marginal climates or soil types. From product quality and availability; education on appropriate cultural practices; identification and selection of equipment and products used for establishment, maintenance and long term care; the members of Team Zoysia™ are committed to providing the best products, information and support to the Customer. Team Zoysia™ is here to help. Our team members, consultants and zoysiagrass experts can assist you in all aspects of grassing your golf course with zoysia. We are specialists in planning, certification, grassing, construction and maintenance of your zoysiagrass golf course. Join the team. Team Zoysia!
